Dear members

Let me draw your attention to a very interesting art - exhibition which can be seen at present in the National Gallery in Melbourne.

Frankfurt's Städel Museum is visiting Melbourne. The foundation of this museum goes back to a Frankfurt businessman and banker. He declared in his last will 1815 that his fortune should become a foundation, that the public should have access to his art collection and that a school for art students the Städel School should be established.

The exhibition in Melbourne shows works of the German expressionist Max Beckmann, the classicist Johann Heinrich Wilhelm Tischbein with his famous painting of Goethe in the Campagna and impressionists like Edgar Degas or Claude Monet.

The collection is one of Germany's oldest art collections and will stay in Melbourne till October 10th 2010.

It is well worth a visit!

On 12th August we will be showing a movie at the Club Tivoli. This time you can look forward to a comedy.

Regards from Linde Mohr

A study: Dads do their bit

Australian fathers have a poor reputation for sharing the housework and childcare. But compared with fathers in Italy or France, Australian dads are domestic paragons, a study shows.

Even compared with fathers in Denmark, where the government supports their involvement in childcare, Australian dads hold their own.

They do less than Australian women but a NSW research shows that Australian fathers are run off their feet. Their long hours in paid work, combined with their domestic labour, mean they work harder than Danish, French or Italian fathers and the same as Americans. For example, they spend 10 to 11 hours a day in paid and domestic work compared with eight hours for Danish men.

Intensive parenting seems to be a phenomenon of Anglo countries. Australian men and women – but especially women – spend more time with their children than do parents in other countries, with only the USA coming closer.

French fathers, however, spend on average 20 minutes a day in routine physical care of children aged under 5 and in accompanying them to places, compared with 40 minutes by Australian fathers. They also spend much less time reading to them and playing with them than Australian dads. French mothers spend 100 minutes a day doing childcare, compared with more than 160 minutes by Australian mothers.

The research comes to the conclusion that Australian parents are overstretched and working longer hours than their overseas counterparts.

Quote of the month

Franz Schubert: Die Winterreise Text: Wilhelm Müller

Courage

If snow drives into my face,
I shake it off,
If my heart speaks in my breast,
I sing loud and merrily.

I don't hear what it tells me,
I have no ears;
I don't feel what it laments,
Lamenting is for fools.

Cheerfully out into the world
Against the wind and weather!
If there is no god on earth,
Then we ourselves are gods.

Tabulam & Templer Homes of the Aged

Dear Friends,

On an optimistic note the year is now heading towards the warmer weather again, and for me it can't come soon enough.

On Saturday 19th June the TSA Sonnenfeier took place at the Templer Hall and as usual the children's lantern parade walked through our Home singing those old favourite familiar songs with many residents joining the singing as they went through most sections of our Home.

Winterfest has also been organized for 22nd July in the Tabulam dining room. Towards the end of August we once again have on loan a large council bus for an outing, possible destinations are still being considered and August is traditionally still quite cold and wintry. On 6th August we will have the Red Apple Singers at 10.30 in the Tabulam dining room.

The activities for our Men's shed are progressing, we have a new volunteer Franz Hugens to help lead some of the activities but I'm sure given time this venue will lead to a number of interesting opportunities for men to socialize and show of their talents and expertise in various ways. I often think that we as a Society waste much talent and experience by not tapping into the wisdom of our elderly. I would like to thank Karin Schwarz and her team for their efforts in maintaining continuous activities to keep life interesting for our residents.

The Home was very lucky to gain three new volunteers to help out in a variety of ways mainly however it is their one to one visits to our residents. One of these ladies brings her beautiful dog so a pat and a chat are always welcome. We thank these volunteers very much for their time. It makes such a difference in maintaining an overall homely, welcoming and friendly environment for our residents.

We currently have a number of Board members enjoying the warmer climates. Sigi Messner is in the Aussie outback and Karl Haak together with our CEO are enjoying the German summer.

All our staff is now busily preparing for our upcoming accreditation and given its wide ranging requirements this is obviously a very time consuming task particularly since we are also in the process of finalizing and integrating two new computer systems.

Progress on our proposed Hostel for Zivis and others is progressing slowly and is currently at the "advertising stage".

Kind Regards,
Hartmut Weller.

Second Generation Germans in Melbourne

I am looking for people to be interviewed

I am seeking volunteers to participate in a thesis project about people who come from a second generation German background and who can tell me how they think about their identity. I am looking for men and women who are second generation German (one or both parent/s is/are born in Germany) and are between the ages of 18 and 60, who were born in or came before the age of five years to Australia and are currently living in Melbourne. People's anonymity will be protected.

Volunteers will be interviewed on one or two occasions, for approximately 1-2 hours each. The interview location will be determined according to the interviewee's preference.

If you are interested and would like more information on this project, please contact Cathrin Vesna Bernhardt by Email: cvbernhardt@students.latrobe.edu.au, or by phone +61 3 9479 3358 (work) or 04 1959 4105 (mobile). If I am not at my phone, please leave your name and a contact number and I will return your call as soon as possible.

Investigators: Dr Alberto Gomes, Anthropology Program, School of Social Sciences, La Trobe University, Bundoora; Cathrin Vesna Bernhardt, PhD candidate, Anthropology Program, School of Social Sciences, La Trobe University, Bundoora.
